It is really lamentable in a large congregation to hear how few persons make the attempt to sing the simple, yet sublime, melodies of our Psalm Tunes. This may be attributed in a great measure, if not wholly, to the non-provision of a Congregational Music Book, the want of which prevents many, who are desirous of singing, from doing so with that degree of confidence which should inspire every Church-goer.

At the request of the Clergy and Wardens of upwards of twenty Churches, the above Works have been published with a view of supplying this deficiency; and, in consequence of a large number of copies having been subscribed for, the Author is enabled to offer them to the public at a low price.

On the 1st of January, 1850, is published—price 2s. bound in cloth, or with paper covers, 1s. 6d.; with a Preface in Defence of the English Chant—

A Collection of Single & Double Chants, for Four Voices, with Organ Accompaniment, Arranged and Edited by W. T. BEST, Organist of the Church for the Blind; also, Organist of the Liverpool Philharmonic Society.

This work will include compositions by the most eminent Church Composers of the 17th, 18th, and 19th centuries, many of which have not hitherto appeared in any published collection. Especial care has been taken that each Chant shall possess a true Ecclesiastical form; in consequence of which, several examples at present too much in use have been excluded, on account of their ornate and secular character, as well as the extended compass of their melodies. The volume will be handsomely printed in quarto, with an Illuminated Title, and Ornamental Margin to each page.

London: J. Alfred Novello, 69, Dean-street, Soho.
